

Defense In Depth Strategy Optimizes Security

Read Matt Rosenquist's latest security paper that talks about how Intel IT developed a defense in depth strategy that optimizes security using interlocking prediction, prevention, detection and response capabilities. We recognize that attackers are human opponents who constantly evolve new tactics and that it would be prohibitively expensive-and near impossible-to protect against every vulnerability